

About Evolutio

Evolutio Sports Physio, founded in 2013 by Alex Drew in Melbourne, revolutionized physiotherapy by rejecting sterile medical environments and opting for a space that encourages comfort and inquiry. Guided by a passion for creating a place where both patients and Physios could be themselves, Alex made Sports Physiotherapy Melbourne distinct and welcoming. In 2016, the practice relocated to a 3-level modern warehouse at 11/3 Bromham Place, Richmond, and quickly became Australia's premier sports clinic.

Specializing in catering to athletes of all levels—from air hockey enthusiasts to international stars—the clinic has welcomed over 7200 new patients from Melbourne and far-reaching places like Norway, France, and Hong Kong. New directors Bayden Campbell and Phill Danzi joined in 2020, further enhancing the clinic's reputation.

The Evolutio team, described as "that old doc with a new twist," are not your conventional physiotherapists. They approach treatments with a unique blend of professionalism and character, handcrafting therapy sessions for ailments ranging from Scandinavian handball injuries to running away from your mother-in-law.

Located near the Melbourne CBD at their Richmond clinic, accessibility is convenient with available parking and no chaotic CBD traffic. The team's dedication to patient care extends to their communication channels, ensuring prompt responses via phone or email at info@evolutio.com.au. Evolutio stands as a testament to the commitment to quality, innovation, and the heartfelt care of athletes in Melbourne.
