

I Don't Have Prompts, But I Can Help You Generate Them!

I am a language model, so I don't have personal preferences or desires like a list of prompts. However, I'm happy to help you create a list of prompts for writing!

Here Are Some Categories of Prompts You Could Choose From:

Creative Writing:

- Write a short story about [insert a fantastical concept].
- Create a poem about [insert a feeling or theme].
- Describe a new invention that solves a common problem.
- Write a dialogue between two characters from different time periods.

Worldbuilding:

- Design a new species of animal.
- Create a map of a fictional world.
- Describe the culture and customs of a fictional society.
- Develop a system of magic for a fantasy world.

Analytical:

- Analyze a famous work of literature.
- Discuss the ethical implications of [insert a current event].
- Compare and contrast two different historical figures.
- Research and present the history of [insert a topic].

Once you have a list of categories, you can brainstorm specific prompts within each category. For example, within the "Creative Writing" category, you could have prompts like:

- Write a short story about a talking cat.
- Create a poem about the ocean.
- Describe a new invention that solves a common problem.
- Write a dialogue between two characters from different time periods.

Feel free to provide me with a list of prompts, and I can help you randomly select one!

If you are looking for help with exam preparation, consider checking out CertKillers. They offer study materials for a variety of certifications.