

Empowering Voices

Writer's workshop

at Heritage University

Join writing tutors from the Academic Skills Center and Dr. Sol Neely (Director of Composition) for a workshop series designed to help you develop your best writing potential. These workshops aim to demystify writing processes and empower student voices. Our initial workshops will address end-of-semester assignments in ENG 101 & 102, but they are free and open to everyone in the Heritage University community.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13 | 12:00p - 1:00p

TOPIC “Connecting With the Reader: Cohesion, Rhythm, and Voice”

Build sentences and make connections that shape the way a reader interprets and reads your writing. We will also focus on “Rhetorical Analysis” papers assigned in ENG 101.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20 | 12:00p – 1:00p

TOPIC “Making Choices: Verbs, Adverbials, Adjectivals”

Learn about the impact of verbs in your writing and develop your understanding of expanded verb forms without memorizing a bunch of new terminology.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 4 | 12:00p – 1:00p

TOPIC “Introducing Principles of Indigenous Style for ENG 102”

Discover the 22 principles of Indigenous Style in a workshop especially designed for students of ENG 102 writing on Indigenous sovereignty!

TO ATTEND, VISIT THE DROP-IN TUTORING ROOM OF THE ACADEMIC SKILLS CENTER:

From MyHeritage, click “Student Services” tab, select “Academic Skills Center,” and click “Join the ASC Drop-In Tutoring Room to launch Zoom. For more information, email Dr. Neely: Neely\_S@heritage.edu